Who is the LaffLady, America's Funniest Grandma? Marion Oxenhorn is a grandmother from Morris Plains who decided several years ago to change careers... and her life. The winner of the Gilda's Club Laugh-Off comedy contest, she pursued her dream of becoming a stand-up comedian after she watched stand-up comics and thought to herself, "I could do that." Marion blends topical humor with wry observations about domestic life. She holds her 55 year marriage responsible for fueling much of her material as well as her "unconventional" kids and the aging process. She has appeared at such well-known venues as Stand Up New York, The New York Improv, Caroline's, and Bananas Comedy Club in Hasbrouck Heights.
